- 六、閱讀測驗：10% (每題 2.5 分)
- Most people don’t like to face the truth because it sometimes hurts. However, in the old days, one special person could tell the truth in a humorous way and would not hurt anyone.

- Back to medieval Europe, there was a special figure in the royal 王室的 court 宮廷. He applied heavy make-up on the face, wearing funny clothes and a stupid hat. This funny-looking man might look like a fool, but he was actually employed by the royal family. The man was called a joker. His job was to perform tricks to amuse the royal members, which made laughter fill the palace 宮殿. More importantly, he had the responsibility to speak the truth.
- Because of his funny appearance, many people thought that the joker was not smart. In fact, not only was he humorous, but he also understood how to observe people and read their minds. The joker was able to criticize, make fun of, and reveal the truth to the royal family. By doing so, he helped the country improve. Therefore, a joker was essential to the European royal courts and the people.
- Although the tradition of a joker had died out, the image of a joker is still widely seen today—on playing cards, at circuses 馬戲團, or even among your friends! Next time your friends are telling jokes, listen carefully. You may find some truth behind the jokes!
