

國立台東高中 109 學年度 第 2 學期 第 2 次期中考 高一 英文科試卷

適用班級：101-108 答案卡+答案卷

第壹部分：選擇題(58%含混合題手寫)

一、語法選擇(10%)

1. Doing exercise regularly ____ a good way to stay healthy.
(A) regards (B) is regarded as (C) regards as (D) is regarded as to
2. After ____ some rest for a while, Jeff felt much better and continued with his homework.
(A) to take (B) took (C) taking (D) he takes
3. A Tale of Two Cities is not Shakespeare's work, and ____ A Christmas Carol. They were both written by Charles Dickens.
(A) it is too (B) is either (C) so is (D) neither is
4. Many teachers believe that taking notes in class indeed ____ students good.
(A) makes (B) do (C) does (D) make
5. The manager finally fired the employee because he couldn't ____ her unpleasant behavior and undesirable job performance.
(A) drop out of (B) put up with (C) come up with (D) stay out of
6. After marrying a Jordanian and moving to a place far away from her homeland, Linda tries really hard to adapt herself ____ the new environment.
(A) to (B) in (C) of (D) for
7. Chinese people gather together to eat dumplings ____ look like "yuanbao" on Chinese New Year's Eve.
(A) where (B) what (C) when (D) which
8. The museum is ____ for its world-wide collection.
(A) well-knowing (B) well-known (C) knowing-well (D) known-well
9. To everyone's surprise, the bakery ran well this winter ____ many stores and restaurants shut down.
(A) which (B) whose (C) when (D) where
10. What the old man said ____ a great influence on Vincent.
(A) has (B) have (C) having (D) to have

二、綜合測驗(10%)

A group of researchers in the Netherlands surveyed teenage players of the game World of Warcraft. They discovered that the teens who played often were more __11__ successful and felt less lonely. This is probably because many players need to __12__ a joint effort to achieve a common goal in these games.

__13__, online gaming has even been shown to make people smarter in some studies. Researchers in Berlin scanned the brains of the adults who __14__ games every day for two months. They observed __15__ the areas of these adults' brains responsible for memory and planning were more developed.

11. (A) financially (B) socially (C) personally (D) productively
12. (A) take (B) find (C) have (D) make

13. (A)However (B)Besides (C)In addition to (D)Though
 14. (A)have been playing (B)have played (C)had been playing (D)played
 15. (A)what (B)on (C)which (D)that

Geography is another important factor that __16__ people's food choices. Take millet, for example. It is one of Africa's main crops because it flourishes in hot climates. This is exactly the reason why millet is widely grown __17__ the main crop in certain regions of Asia, such as India __18__ the average temperature tends to be high. In contrast, a cold climate close to the North Pole drives the Inuit to get the fat and protein they need from the blubber of whales. The potato is a classic example too. It is a staple in many people's diets, especially those who live in mountainous areas with poor soil. The potato __19__ itself well to different climates. __20__, it is often grown in many European countries, and it is even thought of as the "second bread" there.

16. (A) influences (B)makes (C)gives (D)helps
 17. (A)with (B)in (C)for (D)as
 18. (A)where (B) , where (C)which (D),which
 19. (A)takes (B)changes (C)makes (D) adapts
 20. (A)However (B)Moreover (C) Therefore (D)On the other hand

三、文意選填(20%)

Taylor-Joy was born in Miami, USA, to a Scottish Argentinian father and a Spanish English mother. Soon after, the family moved to Argentina, where she __21__ a happy childhood playing with horses in the great Argentinian outdoors. When she was eight, however, her family moved to London. Taylor-Joy did not like her new life at all. In fact, she __22__ to learn English in the hope that it would __23__ the family to return to Argentina (she had grown up speaking Spanish). At school, she was bullied terribly because of her appearance and background, and she found it almost impossible to __24__.

At age 16, she decided to __25__ acting as a career, and soon, an amazing piece of luck came her way. While walking her dog on the streets of central London, she was spotted by Sarah Doukas, founder of one of the biggest modeling agencies in London. Her life was about to change forever.

- (A)force (B)pursue (C)spent (D)had
 (E)fit in (AB)refused (AC)made

In 1796, Jenner inoculated an eight-year-old boy named James Phipps with cowpox. After a few days of fever and __26__, the boy recovered. A few months later, Jenner inoculated him again, this time with smallpox. The boy did not get sick. Jenner's plan had __27__. The boy was now __28__ the disease, and Jenner had invented the world's first vaccine.

After Jenner's discovery, it took more than 80 years for scientists to ___29___ new vaccines. In 1885, French chemist Louis Pasteur developed a vaccine for rabies. Over the ___30___ of the following 130-odd years, scientists would go on to create vaccines to protect people against many other diseases.

- | | | | |
|------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|
| (A)develop | (B) discomfort | (C)worked | (D)immune to |
| (E)time | (AB)course | (AC)give | |

四、混合題(18%)

31 題到 34 題為題組(9%)

Night after night, Mom came to tuck me in, even long after my childhood years. As part of her nightly routine, she would lean down, push my long hair out of the way, and then kiss me on the forehead.

I don't remember when it started annoying me—her hands touching my face that way. But it did annoy me, for they felt rough against my young skin. One night, I finally roared, "Don't do that anymore—your hands are too rough!" When Mom heard this, she stepped out of my room without saying a word. I lay awake long afterward with my words haunting me. However, my pride stopped me from saying sorry to her. From that day forward, Mom never finished my day with that familiar expression of her love again.

Time after time, with the passing years, my thoughts returned to that night. I missed Mom's hands and her good night kiss. Sometimes, the incident seemed very close and sometimes far away, yet it was always there—in the back of my mind.

Years have passed, and I am no longer a young girl. Mom is in her mid-seventies, and those hands that were once thought to be too rough are still taking care of me and my family. They reach into medicine cabinets for a remedy to calm a girl's upset stomach or soothe the pain of a boy's scraped knee. These very same hands also cook the best fried chicken in the world and serve us ice cream on hot summer days.

Now, my own children are grown and gone, and Mom doesn't have Dad any longer. On special occasions, I go to her place and spend the night with her. One night, as I drifted into sleep in my old bedroom, a loving hand hesitantly stole across my face to brush the hair from my forehead. Then a kiss, ever so gently, touched my eyebrow.

For the thousandth time, I recalled the night when my young voice had ungratefully complained. Right then, upon sensing that she was about to leave, I involuntarily seized her hand in mine. I apologized to her and told her how regretful I was about that night.

To my surprise, Mom didn't get angry at me; in fact, she didn't even remember the incident. She had forgiven—and forgotten—long before.

That night, I fell asleep with a new appreciation of my gentle mother and her caring hands. The guilt I had carried around for so long was nowhere to be found.

31. After the author refused her mom's touch one night in her childhood, why didn't the author say sorry to her mother?

- (A) She was afraid that her mother would scold her.
- (B) She didn't think she had done anything wrong.
- (C) She didn't remember the incident the next day.
- (D) She was too proud to say sorry.

32. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT mentioned about how the author's mother expresses her love to her family?

- (A) Kissing her daughter in bed before sleeping
- (B) Making tasty food
- (C) Keeping the house clean and tidy
- (D) Trying to relieve a kid's knee pain

33. What does "time after time" mean in the third paragraph?

- (A) again and again
- (B) all in all
- (C) after a long time
- (D) at any time

34. What did the author do to make her guilt disappear? (請將答案寫在答案卷上)3%

35 題到 38 題為題組(9%)

Studies show that most people who are struggling with the symptoms of video game addiction are playing multiplayer games on the Internet. MMPORGs (massively multiplayer online role-playing games) are especially addictive because they offer an endless adventure inside a fantasy world where players can essentially live a different life as a new person. They provide an opportunity to escape reality and leave behind problems of the real world.

Furthermore, MMPORGs and other multiplayer games host large communities of players where many people feel welcome, appreciated, and useful (something they may not feel often in the real world). An MMPORG player can join clans, help others players, make friends, and develop a status. Although the setting is virtual, the relationships are real. For the player, the sense of being part of something and having a role to play can be important and meaningful, especially if the player does not experience social gratification in real life. For many people with a video game addiction, playing the game is not just "for fun." It is their social life and a pillar of their self-esteem. Video games which exist on social media closely coincide with social media addiction, another behavioral disorder which thrives on the feeling of being accepted.

The desire for escapism and social acceptance may not be the only cause of video game addiction. Numerous studies have sought to establish the relationship between video game addiction and other mental health problems. One 2016 study suggests that people who are depressed and cope with problems in an avoidant way are more likely to become addicted to video games. Another study from 2017 found a strong correlation between video game addiction and anxiety disorders, although it's not clear whether the addiction causes the anxiety or if the anxiety contributes to the addiction.

Almost all American children and teenagers play video games. Among teenagers, 97% of boys and 83% of girls play at least one video game on at least one device. There is evidence that children who start to play video games at younger ages are more likely to develop video game addictions than children who start to play them when they're older. Nevertheless, addiction to video games is a risk for children of all ages. Video game addiction is likely to negatively impact a child's success in school. A child who plays video games obsessively will probably fail to study, finish homework, or participate in sports or school clubs. They may also be tired at school and fall asleep in class.

Studies have shown that playing video games excessively can negatively affect a child's emotional development as well as their academic success. Children who have a video game addiction may be more inclined to exhibit aggressive and anti-social behavior, and they might fail to develop mature social skills. Children's minds are especially vulnerable to forming habits and routines. Parents should make sure that their children have a balanced relationship with any video game that they play.

35. What is the main idea of the first three paragraphs?

- (A) How serious video game addiction is.
- (B) What causes video game addiction.
- (C) How to deal with video game addiction.
- (D) The relation between video game addiction and mental health problems.

36. According to this passage, which of the following is NOT true about MMPORGs?

- (A) They offer a fantasy world where players can live a different life as a new person.
- (B) They provide an opportunity to escape reality.
- (C) They host large communities of players where many people feel welcome.
- (D) They provide a chance to make money for people who dare not go out.

37. According to this passage, which of the following is NOT true?

- (A) A child who plays video games too much may fail to finish homework.
- (B) Video game addiction is highly related to anxiety disorders.
- (C) Students who suffer from video game addiction are likely to skip class.
- (D) A sense of belonging means a lot to a player who is unpopular in real life.

38. According to studies, how does video game addiction impact children's emotional development?

(請將答案寫在答案卷上)3%

第貳部分：非選擇題 (42%)

一、文意字彙 (20%)

1. A leader's ability to make the right decision plays an important r_____e on a team.
2. The singer and the fashion company decided to c_____e with each other and make co-branded coats.

3. In Taiwan, people have the o_____y to try a variety of foreign delicacies, such as Japanese, Korean, and American foods.
4. The city government is being c_____zed for not doing enough to provide a better plan to take care of the growing senior population.
5. He suffered m_____y loss for weeks after the accident. He sometimes even forgot his phone number.
6. She has mastered English grammar and a_____ed a large vocabulary without the help of a teacher.
7. Despite having failed the test, he is o_____c that he will still pass the class.
8. She gained great s_____n out of helping other people. She believes it is the secret to happiness.
9. He is a billionaire and his personal w_____h is about $152 billion.
10. Beans and nuts can be a good source of p_____n for those who don't eat meat, eggs, or fish.

二、句子合併或改寫 (8%)

1. My sister is going to the university.

I used to study in the university. (請用 where 合併句子)

2. The world needs something for a better tomorrow.

We believe that gender equality is the thing. (請用 what 合併句子)

3. John watched the horror movie.

His body was trembling. (請用 with+o+oc 的句型合併句子)

4. I can speak Taiwanese, and Alice can also speak Taiwanese. (請用 ..., and so/neither... 改寫句子)

三、翻譯(14%)

(一) 填充式翻譯(6%，一格 1 分)

1. 一旦你研究日本的飲食，你很可能會發現很多跟中國飲食的連結。

Once you _____ Japanese cuisine, you are likely to find many connections with Chinese food

2. 這個網站有許多可取之處，因為它有很多由世界各地大廚提供的食譜。

The website _____ a lot _____ with its many recipes provided by great chefs around the world.

3. Jeremy被認為是個有愛心的人，因為他很樂意幫助那些需要幫助的人。

Jeremy is _____ a caring person, for he is willing to help those in need.

(二) 整句式翻譯(8%)

1. 我嫁給你的原因不是你長得帥，而是你真心待我

2. 一看到老師朝教室走來，這些學生捲起袖子開始打掃。(Upon..., ...with their sleeves...)