

國立台東高中111學年度 第1學期 第1次期中考 高二 英文科試題卷

適用班級：201-208 答案卡+答案卷

第壹部分 選擇題 (占50分)

一 語法測驗 (占5分)

- Let me know ____ you're going to Peter's birthday party next Friday.
(A) where (B) if (C) who (D) what
- After _____ at school, the students have to clean their classrooms.
(A) arrive (B) to arrive (C) have arrived (D) arriving
- The cat, _____ name was Molly, was sitting on the windowsill.
(A) whose (B) which (C) that (D) who
- Reds and yellows are warm colors, _____ blues and greens are cool.
(A) so (B) although (C) since (D) whereas
- Jenny asked me _____ some letters for her on my way home.
(A) post (B) posted (C) posting (D) to post

二 綜合測驗 (占10分)

第6至10題為題組

When our son Billy saw a clown in the hospital, he got really excited. "Can I call out to him?" he asked. "Please!" Deep down we knew that unscheduled visits were against the rules. However, there was no way we could 6 him down. The doctors had told us Billy didn't have much time 7, and we just wanted him to be happy. Besides, laughter is the best medicine, isn't it?

We then nodded to show it was okay. Suddenly, new life came into Billy's face. He called out to the clown as loudly as he could and the next minute we found a man 8 like Ronald McDonald entering our room. The clown was really nice and did some magic tricks for Billy, who was smiling from ear to ear the whole time.

Before he left, the man even hugged our boy to say goodbye. We could see how much this 9 to Billy and considered 10 a wonderful experience for him to be able to meet Ronald. It made his day, one of his last on this earth.

- | | | | |
|--------------------|--------------|-----------|-------------|
| 6. (A) slow | (B) take | (C) turn | (D) look |
| 7. (A) left | (B) stayed | (C) taken | (D) used |
| 8. (A) was dressed | (B) to dress | (C) dress | (D) dressed |
| 9. (A) meaning | (B) meant | (C) mean | (D) to mean |
| 10. (A) it | (B) x | (C) that | (D) this |

第11至15題為題組

Would you commit hours to counting to 100,000? Would you watch someone else do it? Apparently, millions of people would because a YouTube video of someone doing just that went viral in 2017. The video was made by MrBeast, 11 real name is Jimmy Donaldson. Since then, he has become one of the most popular YouTubers.

MrBeast 12 his first YouTube channel in 2012 at the age of 13. At first, like most new YouTubers, he didn't get many 13. But he discovered a passion for making videos. He even dropped out of college saying he would rather be poor than do anything 14 make videos. His mother considered this unacceptable and forced him to move out in an attempt to change his mind. He didn't change his mind, but he did stay on good 15 with his mother. Once he made enough money from his videos, he even gave her US$100,000.

Once MrBeast's counting video went viral, he was able to use that new popularity to get people to watch his other videos.

- | | | | |
|------------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|
| 11. (A) his | (B) whose | (C) who | (D) which |
| 12. (A) launched | (B) turned | (C) used | (D) tuned |
| 13. (A) reviews | (B) interviews | (C) views | (D) previews |
| 14. (A) and | (B) to | (C) for | (D) but |
| 15. (A) terms | (B) looks | (C) hold | (D) shares |

三 文意選填 (占19分)

第16至22題為題組 (1題1分，共7分)

Tom Wujec is a famous Canadian writer and speaker. He also hosts design workshops for architects and other 16. In fact, he has held over seventy of these events worldwide.

In these workshops, Wujec often gets participants working together with an activity known as the Marshmallow Challenge. Back in 2010, he gave a TED Talk to introduce how this innovative 17 exercise works. He also 18 how people of different ages and backgrounds generally perform. In addition, he spoke about the different kinds of negative behavior that people should 19 when they collaborate with others. Finally, he shared some key findings and explained how teams can operate more efficiently.

Over the last decade, Wujec's talk itself has proved very popular. It has received very positive 20 and has been viewed nearly six million times! Despite lasting just six and a half minutes, it 21 valuable insights into how groups can succeed. Those who are in charge can use these insights to get the most out of their team members. Wujec's talk can also help them figure out how to build stronger and closer groups. Now that's certainly something 22 talking about!

- (A) feedback (B) mentioned (C) offers (D) team-building (E) worth
(AB) professionals (AC) avoid

第23至28題為題組 (1題2分，共12分)

Fall leaves and a chill in the air mean it's football season in America. It's time to break out your team's colors and cheer your team on to 23 !

Football season also signals the beginning of tailgate season. Hours before a game begins, people 24 , often in stadium parking lots. They cook, eat, listen to music, play games and get ready for the game. These 25 are called tailgate parties because food is commonly served from a truck's tailgate. It's so popular that the first Saturday of each September is National Tailgating Day.

This tradition can be 26 back to football's early days, thanks to the arrival of cars. Car 27 in the early 1900s and football games went hand in hand. Cars gave fans the 28 to travel out of town to see their teams play. After driving long distances, hungry travelers often enjoyed picnics near the stadium.

- (A) traced (B) victory (C) freedom (D) events (E) ownership
(AB) gather

四、篇章結構 (占8分)

第29題至32題為題組

At a time when there were all-powerful gods in the universe, a Titan known as Prometheus created human beings out of clay. His brother Epimetheus then gave all living creatures on earth different qualities. Epimetheus gave animals speed, strength, fur, and wings. 29 To make up for their weaker state, Prometheus enabled them to stand upright like the gods. Not only kind but also generous, he gave them fire too so that they could keep warm, cook food, and make tools.

However, Prometheus's love for humankind brought him into conflict with Zeus, the king of the Olympian gods. 30 He slaughtered a bull and created two offerings. One was a pile of beef hidden inside a bull's stomach, and the other was a pile of bones covered in shiny fat. He then asked Zeus to choose one. The king of the gods chose the second one, believing there must be juicy meat underneath the fat, but instead he ended up with nothing but bones. As a result, from that day on, humans would keep the meat for themselves and burn animal bones as an offering to the gods.

Angry about being tricked, Zeus took fire away from humankind. Without it, humans began to starve and freeze. 31 Prometheus saw how miserable they were and decided to help. He took a stalk of fennel and lit its hollow center with fire that he had stolen from the sun. Then, he gave humans this stalk with the fire inside it.

Furious about Prometheus's theft, Zeus punished the Titan by banishing him to a place far to the east. 32 Though his liver kept growing back, the eagle would return every day to gnaw at it again, torturing Prometheus until the end of time. Through his sacrifice, Prometheus, who gave humans not only the ability to stand upright but also the gift of fire that set the stage for human civilization, came to be known in later centuries as the "Champion of Humankind."

- (A) When the gods and humans met at Mecone to decide on the distribution of sacrifices that humans should make to the gods, Prometheus tricked Zeus for the benefit of humans.
(B) Unable to make tools or weapons, they had to live in caves and often fell victim to wild beasts.
(C) There, Prometheus was chained to a rock, and an eagle sent by Zeus fed on Prometheus's liver.
(D) By the time he got to human beings, however, he had run out of gifts.

五、閱讀測驗 (占8分)

第33題至36題為題組

When a child becomes seriously ill, he or she might have to travel a long distance to receive medical treatment. Sometimes, such treatment can last for weeks or months, which means families must look for a place to stay in, so they can be near their sick child. Without anyone there to offer support, the search can be difficult.

To help ease the burden on such families, Ronald McDonald House Charities provide places for families to live in with their children who are in need of medical care. Each House offers home-cooked meals, private bedrooms, and playrooms for children at little or no extra cost. Currently, there are more than 360 Houses around the world, and they're all located near medical facilities. By staying at a Ronald McDonald House, parents can be near their children, and they won't have to worry about cleaning or cooking.

For a sick child, the love and support of his or her family is just as important as any medicine a doctor can give him or her. By enabling parents to better care for their children, Ronald McDonald House Charities give those children a fighting chance.

33. What is the passage mainly about?

- (A) How Ronald McDonald House Charities are run.
- (B) What functions Ronald McDonald House Charities have.
- (C) Where Ronald McDonald House Charities are located.
- (D) When Ronald McDonald House Charities were established.

34. Which of the following is NOT true about Ronald McDonald House Charities?

- (A) There are over 360 of these houses all over the world.
- (B) They provide various services at little or no cost.
- (C) They only offer housing to poor families.
- (D) All their houses are close to medical facilities.

35. Where does this passage most likely appear?

- (A) In a history textbook.
- (B) In a fashion magazine.
- (C) In a scientific research paper.
- (D) On a business website.

36. What does "a fighting chance" mean in the last paragraph?

- (A) Chance for success with great effort.
- (B) Chance for success with great love.
- (C) Chance for success with great money.
- (D) Chance for success with medical facilities.

第貳部分、混合題 (占10分)

* 此大題請在答案卷作答

第37題至40題為題組

Can you think of a common observation that many foreigners make when visiting Taiwan? In addition to being impressed with its delicious food and friendly people, visitors are often shocked at the large number of convenience stores located around the island. By the end of 2020, there were nearly 11,500 convenience stores in total and that number continues to increase. To be more specific, this is equal to one store for every 2,065 people. Only South Korea and Japan have a higher ratio. This raises the question of why convenience store culture is so closely connected with the lives of Taiwanese people.

A main reason convenience stores are so popular is that they offer one-stop shopping experiences. No other stores allow you to buy meals, pay bills, order tickets, and pick up goods that you ordered online in just one place. In a recent study, the average consumer in Taiwan visits a convenience store 130 times each year and spends roughly NT$90 on each occasion.

The popularity and high demand for convenience stores have led to a lot of competition. The convenience store chains 7-Eleven, Family Mart, OK Mart, and Hi-Life have all established a strong presence in Taiwan. Although the stores sell similar products, there are some differences. For example, 7-Eleven has the most stores and the largest selection of western snacks. Family Mart is the 2nd-largest chain, and it specializes in Japanese imports. OK Mart has fewer international products, but it does have a large selection of instant noodles. Meanwhile, Hi-Life has a good selection of local desserts such as grass jelly teas and taro ice cream bars. Of course, this could always change in the future as convenience stores are constantly adding new services and products to attract new customers and keep the old ones coming back.

37. 請從文章第一段中選出一個單詞 word 填入下列句子的空格，並視語法需要作適當的字形變化，使句子語意完整、語法正確，且符合第一段文意。(填空，2分)

The high density of convenience stores, with stores located on every corner, often __37__ visitors to Taiwan.

38. Which word in the passage means "a relationship between two things when it is expressed in size, number, or amount"? 簡答，2分)

39. Choose ONE sentence from the last paragraph that best indicates the convenience stores can be easily found in Taiwan. Write down the WHOLE sentence on the answer sheet. (簡答, 2分)

40. Please choose the statements that can be learned from the passage. (多選題, 4分)

- (A) OK Mart has more international products than the others.
- (B) There are four major convenience store chains in Taiwan.
- (C) Different convenience store chains have partnerships with different banks.
- (D) Convenience stores in Taiwan tend to offer competitive prices on products.
- (E) Family Mart is likely to have more Japanese snacks than the other stores.
- (F) The total number of visits and the average amount of money spent at each convenience store.

第參部分、非選擇題 (占40分)

一、文意字彙 (占26分)

1. Uncle Harry srs from a heart condition, so the doctors told him to cut down on fatty foods.
2. Every time Dennis tells that funny story, we all burst into lr.
3. At the sight of the shark, the swimmer's face went completely pe and she started shaking with fright.
4. The teenage girl asked her parents to get her the latest smartphone, but her request was met with rl.
5. After taking lessons for a year, Martha was ce of playing several songs on the guitar.
6. Paris's famous Eiffel Tower was cted in just over two years using around 18,000 pieces of iron.
7. Tai Tzu Ying, a Taiwanese professional badminton player, has won several international games and has the top rg in several categories.
8. After receiving a lot of constructive fk from customers, the company was able to improve their product a great deal.
9. John's is was so serious that he had to spend two weeks in the hospital.
10. Even though Sandra had tl breast cancer, her will to live helped her recover.
11. Andy psed his wife that he would try his best to make more money.
12. We will have to make some (adjust) to our original plan owing to bad weather.
13. Whenever Mr. Wang is on a business trip, he usually keep in ct with his boss by e-mail.

二、句型 (占6分)

1. It is a great achievement to win three championships.
Many fans think so.
(以S + V + it + adj./N + to + VR合併句子)
2. Evelyn decided to turn down Ryan's invitation to the prom. (It seems...)
3. Life in the city is convenient. Life in the country is not so convenient.
(以that /those代替出現過的名詞, 並合併句子)

三、翻譯 (占8分)

(一) 引導式翻譯 (1格1分)

* 試著正面思考, 這將對你的生活有所影響。

Try to think positively, and it will 1 a 2 to your life.

* 那題數學問題很難。我已經花了兩個小時試著去想出答案。

The math problem is difficult. I have spent two hours trying to 3 4 the answer.

(二) 整句式翻譯 (4分)

直到戰爭爆發、家園被毀, 他們才知道和平的重要。 (...not....until...)